Who we are

Twocan Design is a multidisciplinary creative agency. It sounds like a mouthful but essentially, we create an array of digital solutions. We make sure every problem is solved in a holistic way so we can focus on the main goal: delivering great designs.

What we do

Web Design

The internet is an extremely competitive place for brands. Your company's presence on the web must stand out from all its competitors so you gather the attention you deserve. Whenever we design a website, we do what we can (and a bit more) so your business gets a page that will be findable, easily accessible and long lasting.

UX/UI

Often together, user experience (UX) and user interface (UI) are the base to any well designed website. We make sure every site we release is up-to-date with the latest usability standards.

WordPress Support

We understand that sometimes using platforms like WordPress can be overwhelming, and that's exactly why we let you know exactly what to do so you can change content and update your website's content without having to depend on nerds like us!

SEO

SEO stands for "search engine optimization". It's the practice of increasing both the quality and quantity of website traffic, as well as exposure to your brand, through non-paid (also known as "organic") search engine results.

It may all sound like magic, but we got your back: all our websites inherently have SEO.
